A UNIQUE SPACE IN THE WORLD

The Ocean Race Museum is an interactive space that traces more than 50 years of the history of the race and its advances in nautical technology, showing the human effort that this sporting challenge entails, through audiovisual installations, games, models and much more.

As we sail around the planet, another colossal endeavour takes place: the race for the ocean. The Ocean Race is dedicated to inspiring action to protect the ocean. The museum showcases the important work being done to raise awareness about the health of the oceans and to create our event as sustainable as possible.

RACE CONTROL

Described by the media as 'The Nasa of the sea', Race Control is the only point in the world where every movement of the fleet is controlled and monitored during race time. It is the most advanced control room ever built for a sailing race and also the boat crews' contact with the mainland.

With an 18-screen video wall, eight control stations and the central platform of a traditional and electronic chart table, this sophisticated centre provides constant monitoring and analysis of all the boats in the fleet.
