At The Helm: Leadership in Sport & Industry
Bridgepoint - 53 Bridge St, Brooklyn, New York 11201

An event that brings together influential voices from elite sport and business to explore what makes a great leader in sports and in the boardroom. Through a moderated conversation, speakers will share insights on resilience, teamwork, decision-making and leading under pressure, before examining how inclusive leadership strengthens organisational performance. Drawing on evidence that organisations with more women in senior leadership roles often benefit from greater empathy, collaboration, innovation and stronger decision-making, the event will highlight why equitable leadership is not only the right thing to do, but a key driver of high-performing teams and lasting social impact.
